PREAMBLE

University of Petrosani

University of Petrosani is a prestigious academic centre that has trained, during 75 years of higher education, 50,000 highly qualified specialists mainly for the mining industry, and, especially after 1990, for other fields of production, research, education and public administration as well. At the same time, the University of Petrosani is integrated into the international academic community sharing the European moral, educational, scientific and cultural values and collaborating with Universities in Europe, America, Asia and Africa.

The strong point of the development of internationalization at the University of Petrosani is the acquisition of the title of European University, by winning the financing of the EURECA-PRO consortium, where we are partners with 8 more European universities and 32 associated partners, from Austria, Germany, Greece, Spain, France, Belgium and Poland. On this occasion, the University of Petroșani is part of the 10 Romanian universities that have acquired the title of European Universities. At the same time, as a complement to the establishment of this consortium, we also applied and obtained funding for the development of a Horizon2020 type project, also for the development of specific cooperation activities between the 7 partner universities, called RE-EURECA-PRO.

The University of Petroșani is an outstanding cultural and social institution in Hunedoara County, a comprehensive higher education centre and a source of educational and scientific influence at the national level. UP's mission is to generate and transfer knowledge to society through initial and continuous student training aimed at encouraging personal development, professional insertion in the labour market and by providing scientific, technical, economic, administrative, IT and management competences.

With strong academic traditions and prestige enjoyed at home and abroad as its roots, UP offers students high-quality qualification in a variety of subjects at the bachelor, master and PhD level. 3 faculties (Faculty of Mining, Faculty of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering and faculty of Sciences) with 24 undergraduate study programmes and 22 master studies, one doctoral school with 4 study fields, 5 research departments and 4 centres, host 4,500 students. Together with 300 staff members, these students work to achieve the University of Petroșani's mission.

UP research carries out fundamental and applied studies and research in the following fields: natural resources engineering and raw materials extraction, the improvement and automatic control of machines, installations and technological processes, the evaluation of the impact of economic activities upon the environment, the rehabilitation of mining areas, the elaboration of new management, marketing, and entrepreneurial development systems and methods for innovation and organizational competitiveness.

Research activities at the University of Petrosani is mainly carried out by research teams consisting of faculty members, researchers, PhD candidates, students and external collaborators, in research centers and specific laboratories.

Experience has been accumulated through projects, grants and sectorial projects that are sustained by the research potential that should not be wasted. The new strategy is meant to ensure the maintaining of the positions in certain research fields, to make efficient use of the equipment acquired during the past years and to identify new pillars of research and innovation at regional, national and international level.

In 2009, 2015 and 2021, UP was evaluated by the Romanian Agency for Quality Assurance in Higher Education as a "High Trust" institution
